Press release - Insure.com Announces Low Cost Car Insurance Award Winners

By Insure.com Posted on May 17, 2010

May 17, 2010 - Congratulations, Mazda: The Tribute i tops the list of Insure.com's ranking of the least expensive 2010 vehicles to insure, garnering it a Low Cost Car Insurance Award.

Our new annual awards honor vehicles that are the cheapest to insure, based on a survey of average car insurance rates for more than 2,400 vehicles for the 2010 model year. Use Insure.com's interactive tool to compare car insurance rates for more than 2,400 vehicles, with data nationally and for each state.

The top Low Cost Car Insurance Award winners in each category are:

- Cars: Dodge Caliber 4-door hatchback
- SUVs: Mazda Tribute i 2WD 4-door Utility
- Vans: Honda Odyssey LX 5-door 2WD
- Trucks: GMC Canyon WT 2WD 2-door 2.9L

About the rankings

To arrive at the average premiums, Insure.com commissioned a study from Quadrant Information Services that calculated the average annual premiums for a male driver (see full profile below) using car insurance rates from six large insurers in 10 ZIP codes per state.

Averages are based on a single 40-year-old male driver who commutes 12 miles to work, with policy limits of 100/300/50 ($100,000 for injury liability for one person, $300,000 for all injuries and $50,000 for property damage in an accident) and a $500 deductible on collision and comprehensive coverage. He has a clean driving record and good credit. The policy includes uninsured motorist coverage. Average annual rates are for comparative purposes; your rate will depend on your personal factors.
